the charging voltage when the vehicle was idling or being driven at a constant speed and increased voltage at low speeds. The pistons had internal cooling channels, while oil jets in the crankcase sprayed the underside of the pistons. Injection and combustion The Euro 4 and Euro 5 EE20 diesel engines had a Denso common-rail injection system with eight-hole, solenoid-type injectors that achieved an injection pressure of 180 MPa. For the Euro 6 EE20 engine, however, injection pressure was increased to 200 MPa. For the EE20 engine, the injectors were positioned at an almost 90 degree angle to the cylinder and were 40-50 mm shorter than those used in inline four-cylinder diesel engines. The Euro 5 and Euro 6 EE20 engines are understood to have ceramic-type glow plugs. You're Reading a Free Preview Pages 415 to 445 are not shown in this preview. The four valves per cylinder (two intake and two exhaust) were actuated by pivot-type roller rocker arms. Furthermore, the crankshaft journals were made from aluminium and cast iron due to the high pressure applied on both side of the cylinder block. The forged connecting rods had fracture split bearings for the crank end and an asymmetrical profile which increased precision during assembly. Cylinder head The EE20 engine had an aluminium alloy cylinder head that was 17 mm thinner than the EJ20 engine. For the Euro 6 EE20 engine, it is understood that the turbocharger was relocated to the bottom right of the engine.
